INEZ FAITH HUMPHREY

DEDICATION

IN recognition of the many years of faithful and unselfish service she has given to the youth of Eastern Kentucky; in appreciation of the kind consideration and understanding she has shown her students, both in the class room and elsewhere; and as a tribute to that splendid atmosphere of culture and refinement with which her teaching is imbued; we respectfully dedicate the fourth edition of the Raconteur to Miss Inez Faith Humphrey.

THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1930.

In Memoriam

Professor William LeGrande Jayne, head of the Extension Department of our college died suddenly at his home on the morning of April fourteenth as he was preparing to meet his classes. His death was a distinct shock to the entire local community as well as to the people of Eastern Kentucky, to whose service he had devoted the major portion of his life.

At various times during his educational career Professor Jayne held educational positions in Johnson, Boyd, Greenup, and Breathitt counties and before coming to Morehead was head of the Department of Rural Education at Eastern State Teachers College, Richmond, Kentucky. He was always prominent as professional leader having been a director of the Kentucky Education Association for a considerable period and was also largely responsible for the organization of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association.

In the death of this educational pioneer Eastern Kentucky has lost a friend and leader whose place cannot be easily filled. The service he rendered remains as the most appropriate monument to his memory.

In Memoriam

Miss Pearle Jordan of Princeton, Kentucky, critic teacher in the third and fourth grades of the training school, was the second member of our faculty to be called by death during the year. She passed away at the Mason Hospital at Murray on Saturday, May thirty-first, after a brief illness.

Miss Jordan was a graduate of the Western Kentucky State Teachers College at Bowling Green and had received the Master of Arts degree from George Peabody College for Teachers. At various times during her career she had served as critic teacher in each of the training schools of the Kentucky teachers colleges.

Here was a teacher who had prepared herself thoroughly for the work she was doing. Her entire time was at the disposal of her students and pupils if such a plan was necessary. The teaching profession, in her death, has lost a capable and conscientious member and the Morehead Teachers College a teacher whose place in the institution will be extremely difficult to fill.

Senior Class History

Little is known of the history of our class before we entered Morehead State Teachers College. There has been much speculation about the origin of the class of 1930, but no theory advanced has been free from serious difficulties. We have been a nomadic tribe wandering here and there over the "Dark and Bloody Ground." At last we have pitched our tents, one by one, on the broad and cultured plain that Morehead State Teachers College offered and have been adopted into the clan. Here in this rich hunting ground we have chased the hours under the leadership of a wise Sachem and the guidance of patient chiefs. We have not been unmindful of the council around whose fires decisions have been made and the incentive to higher and better things has been given. Truly grateful to them for their leadership, for their confidence in our ability, and for their untiring efforts in our behalf, we at last survey the landscape and see not far in the distance the vanishing frontier that has been our goal for four long years.

To be true to history we must recount some of the accumulations of the past. We started on the war-path in our youth wearing the brilliant green head-dress of the Freshman tribe. For some tribesmen an interval of several years elapsed between the outbreak of hostilities, but within that time each member considered himself in conflict with his enemies. Some of us began this warfare in the second decade of the twentieth century, when our Sachem belonged to the Senior tribe in a nearby clan; others began in the latter half of the third decade. Regardless of the decade, each one, true to his heritage, has been well-known for his originality and "freshness."

After several engagements in various collegiate territories we survived our primitive stage to unite with the Sophomore tribe of M. S. T. C. Because of our bravery and hardihood we met the onslaught of intelligence test arrows and the psychological scalping knives of the educational council with a stoicism that has not been surpassed. Neither have we preferred peace in athletic circles, but one or two of our young braves had the desire to fight and formed a war party, donned the war paint, danced the war dance, and immediately marched against the neighboring enemy. They struck quickly and returned speedily with the scalps and captives to await the retaliating blow of the injured tribe.

By acts of courage and prowess we crossed the broad, uninhabited zones that lie between the tribes, and at last found ourselves banded together again. The number of years of service, the ardent application to duty, and the quality of our efficiency had earned for us the name of Juniors. Here a stronger combination was formed and a sterner struggle ensued.

From this well-knit confederacy the Senior tribe emerged with a war-whoop. Several of our members deserted us on the warpath and adopted the head-dress of a neighboring tribe; nevertheless our number has far surpassed and our attainments have equalled those of any previous tribe. We have kept inviolate the traditions of the past handed down to us by the upper tribesmen who have gone before. Unable to resist the inevitable fate of all Seniors we have completed our passage, which has been just another epoch in the annals of history.

During our sojourn in our camps we have witnessed the growth of this institution from its papoose days until it has almost reached its full-grown chieftainship. We have learned to love the wigwams and council fires around which we have smoked the pipe of peace with our chiefs. We have lighted our torches at the smouldering embers of the campfires to go over valleys and mountains to kindle into flame the tinder that has awaited our warfare against ignorance. May it be a spark that shall strike real fire—a fire that shall blaze a trail over the vast unknown land as we pass onward, our faces bright with hope.

Prof. C. O. Perratt, Coach

Intercollegiate debating was inaugurated at Morehead during the past year. Only three debates were held and two of these were lost but we feel that a distinct step forward has been made. This phase of college activity has been receiving minor attention in most colleges during recent years. Morehead is indeed proud to have had such worthy representatives in this activity and we predict additional successes in the years to come.

Two debates were held with Georgetown, Morehead losing the first decision and winning the second. The strong team representing Asbury College debated here as a part of their extended trip through the East and gained the verdict of the judges after a strenuous contest that was expertly argued from beginning to end. As indicated above, the past season furnished an auspicious start in intercollegiate debate for Morehead State Teachers College.

Athletics at Morehead

The Morehead State Teachers College has a very definite athletic policy.

It believes in athletics as a means of physical development. It believes in athletics as the basis of wholesome recreation. It believes in athletics as the instrument for engendering college spirit. It believes in athletics because of the splendid publicity values that grow out of it, because of the many social contacts that it affords to members of the student body and the faculty.

We like to win, but we believe that it is more important to play the game squarely than to win. Therefore, we believe in rigid adherence to eligibility rules on the part of the institution itself, and we believe that athletes should practice the ideals of sportsmanship in their relations with each other. It is never so important to win as to allow students to play whose standards of scholarship are not acceptable. The very purpose of athletics is defeated if low scholarship is tolerated for the sake of victory. The privilege to play is the big thing in athletics. This privilege to play should be the means of securing better standards of scholarship.

It shall be the policy of the institution to link up very closely the program of athletics with the program for Health Education. The two go hand in hand.

We want clean sport. In order to have clean sport, it is necessary that we have a rigid observance of eligibility rules. We offer no encouragement to the migratory athlete. We want all who participate in athletics to be students who are here not for the primary purpose of participating in athletics, but for the primary purpose of obtaining education, with athletic activity for wholesome recreation and physical development.

We invite from the high schools of the state young and aspiring athletes with the promise that they shall have full opportunity to express their talents in all the fields of athletic endeavor in which they may be proficient. It shall further be our policy to provide courses that shall prepare them to be coaches of athletics and teachers of Health and Physical Education.

We enjoyed very much the regional basketball tournament for 1930. We invite all the high schools back again with the statement that the latch string is not only on the outside, but the door is standing wide open.

Football

The Morehead Eagles, although small in number and size, upheld the fighting traditions of a Downing-coached machine and in spite of severe handicaps had as successful a season as their most optimistic supporter could hope for. They met and defeated their two greatest rivals, Eastern and Morris-Harvey, and any Eagle team that can accomplish this feat in a season is successful.

A football team should not be judged solely by the number of games won and lost but by its accomplishments according to its actual ability. It should be judged by the effort it has made to give its best to and for the school whose colors it wears. This year's was one that was not large in numbers, nor was it a team that was big in person. It was a clean, hard-fighting little football team. Very few teams in the country gave more in proportion to what they had for their alma mater than did the little Eagles of the Morehead State Teachers College.

The squad had the unique distinction of being the smallest college team in the state, both in size and number, that played a college schedule and won the important games for which they were pointed. Fifteen men were on the squad. The entire Eastern game was played with one substitution, and the eleven men in the starting line-up against Morris-Harvey played the whole game.

The Eagles met and lost to the Kentucky Wesleyan Frosh in the opening game 21-13, the numerous substitutes that Wesleyan kept sending in defeating the tired but gallant warriors of the Blue and Gold. A second freshman team was met next in Transylvania and the unleashed fury of the Eagles sent the invaders back with an overwhelming defeat 51-13. Campbellsville College was the next victim, succumbing by a 54-6 count.

Eastern, the big rival, was met next and Turkey Hughes' Maroons "weren't what they used to be" and were forced to take back to Richmond the short end of a 13-6 score. It was the second straight year that the Eagles had proven themselves masters of the Maroons, Eastern falling last year by the score of 18-0.

Football

Morehead lost the next three games in succession to West Virginia Conference foes, Salem, Glenview, and New River State. The Salem game was 36-7 and although the game was a loss it did more to cause true sportsmen to respect the Eagles than any contest of the season. The Glenville game was 21-6, and the New River game, 36-6. The weight and numbers of the West Virginians crushed the crippled Eagles.

The final game on home-coming day gave a thrill to all who returned for the day when the fighting team wearing the Blue and Gold defeated Morris-Harvey 20-0. Not once was the Eagles goal line threatened and they ran amuck through the visitors.

Each of the following was awarded the Varsity "M": Captain Kershner, Captain-Elect McNabb, Lewis, Riddle, Laughlin, Counts, Perry, Holbrook, Maggard, Carroll, Prichard, and Norris.

Basketball

Coach Downing faced the past basketball season with a small squad of inexperienced men and with a college schedule of eighteen games. With these handicaps, Morehead startled the state by winning ten of the thirteen games, scoring 450 points for an average of 36 a game, while holding their opponents to 344, an average of 26 a game. An even break would have been considered a good record but the team played at a .770 clip for the season. Two of Morehead's three losses were suffered at the hands of Sue Bennett while the other was at the hands of Morris-Harvey there. The Morris-Harvey defeat was later avenged by a 23-15 victory on the local floor.

The Eagles opened the season by losing to Sue Bennett 37-25. Inexperience was the factor that defeated them. After this game the Blue and Gold won from Cumberland and New River State by top-heavy margins. Morris-Harvey was next met at Barboursville, West Virginia, and in a rough and tumble affair that looked more like football than basketball, the Eagles were defeated for their second loss of the year. Campbellsville, Bliss College of Portsmouth, Lee, Morris-Harvey, and Cumberland then fell victims to the onslaught of the Eagles in quick succession.

Basketball

Sue Bennett was next met at London and again defeated the Blue and Gold. The Eagles were hosts to Pikeville College for their final two games and defeated them by scores of 29-22 and 48-18.

Wooten and Queen were the outstanding stars on the squad but were crowded for honors by the other members of the team as the season grew older. Laughlin played a stellar game at guard until he was lost by graduation at the close of the first semester. Letters were awarded the following: Queen, Wooten, McNabb, Riddell, Holbrook, Fraley, and Counts.

Baseball

The Eagles won the right to claim the collegiate championship of Kentucky by winning nine of their ten games with the best teams in the state. The only blemish on their record was a 5-4 defeat by Centre at Danville after the Colonels had fallen before the Blue and Gold at Morehead earlier in the season by a 7-4 score. To defend their claims for a state championship, offers were made to play Centre a third game and also the University of Kentucky. These offers however were refused so—Hail to the Champions!

Morehead opened the season with a 7-4 victory over Centre, McNabb holding the Praying Colonels to three hits and having them shut out until the eighth inning. Morris-Harvey, an old rival, was the next to feel the effects of the Eagles' bats and fell by an 8-1 margin. Eastern was the next victim, losing two games, 9-4 and 9-6. Lee was a disappointment and dropped a double header by scores of 17-2 and 12-5. To offset the loose playing that was displayed in these two games, Morehead proceeded to win two shutout contests from Transylvania and Georgetown, the former falling by 3-0 and the Tigers by 7-0. Centre was next at Danville and blasted the Eagles' chance for an undefeated season by winning with a score of 5-4. Wesleyan was the final game for the Blue and Gold and was featured by the hard hitting of both teams. The Eagles were winners by an 11-10 score but ten innings were required before a verdict could be reached.

McNabb was outstanding on the mound with a record of eight victories. Five of his games were three-hit affairs and two were shut-outs. Carroll pitched the other two, beating Lee College 17-2 and losing a tough decision to Centre because of errors by his teammates. Fraley, veteran shortstop, led the team in hitting with an average of .500 and Carroll and Counts rang up the most extra-base hits.

MAY DAY

JULIA PORTER

Of Commerce and Philosophy.
 And many students
 From the hills and plains
 And from remotest regions of the state,
 Yearning for the Truth,
 Shall come to worship there.
 And bear away the light
 To drive the darkness
 From a thousand homes
 And bring the joys of life
 To myriads of souls."

I looked at Dawn.
 Her eyes were brilliant as the stars,
 Her face was like the rising sun.
 I thought of Aphrodite in her loveliness
 New-risen from the sea.

"You are no priestess of the Morn,"
 I said; "but goddess of transcendent Day."

For everywhere I saw
 The sons and daughters of a noble race
 Transfigured as by miracle—
 The spirit, broken and enslaved
 By cruel poverty,
 Made whole by knowledge
 And set free by truth;
 The eye that had been dull and lusterless,
 Aflame with faith and hope and love;
 The sunken and the sallow cheek
 Once more aglow with health;
 The body, warped and cracked
 By fruitless and despotic toil,
 Restored to beauty and to strength.
 And all the landscape, far as eye could see,
 Hillside, mountain-top and valley,
 Was a blooming orchard now,
 A terraced vineyard,
 Or a golden harvest field.

And when I turned to speak again
 Lo, Dawn, the priestess of the Morn,
 Had disappeared,—
 Triumphant Day
 Stood tip-toe
 On a sun-crowned peak.
